Mine company fined

VICTORIA — Jordan River Mines Ltd. was fined $2,500 in provincial court Thursday for polluting the Jordan River with copper mine tailings.

Judge William Ostler found the company guilty of allowing the mine wastes to enter the river in contravention of the Fisheries Act and its permit from the provincial pollution control branch.

The charges stemmed from two spills June 24 and 25 when a tailings pond overflowed at the mine 35 miles west of here and an underground pipe carrying tailings out to sea broke open.

Judge Ostler said the company had failed to make a comprehensive inspection of its pollution control system after an earlier failure in March, when a $1,000 fine was levied.
